WARRANT FOR SON OF HANNA

He and Senator Clark's Son Wanted for Assault

TOOK HACK FROM W. VA. LEGISLATOR

Left Him in an Unconscious Condition on Sidewalk.

LOCKED THEMSELVES IN THEIR PRIVATE CAR

Sheriff Searched Train in Endeavor to Arrest Guilty Parties, but He Could Not Get Into Locked Car—A Great Sensation in Charleston, W. Va., Where the Affair Happened.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

CHARLESTON, KANAWHA COUNTY, W. VA., Feb. 14.—Charleston was treated to a first-class sensation this morning. John H. Winder, general manager of the Kanawha and Hocking Coal Company; Dan R. Hanna, son of Senator Mark Hanna, and William A. Clark, Jr., son of Senator Clark, of Montana, were visitors to the city. Mr. Winder comes here frequently, on business, and on the occasion of his visit, Messrs. Hanna and Clark accompanied him on a sort of pleasure trip. Last night they were said to have visited a club, and this morning started to take a train for Columbus. As they passed along the street they met a hack and told the driver that he must take them to the train. The hack driver remonstrated that he was engaged, but one of the men opened the door and started to get in. W. G. Caldwell, member of the Legislature from Ohio county, and chairman of the House Judiciary Committee, was the occupant of the hack, returning to his hotel from the legislative hall. He remonstrated against the interruption and informed the men that the hack was his property and that he did not desire to be disturbed.

RENDERED UNCONSCIOUS.

One of the men, not definitely known, struck Mr. Caldwell a hard blow on the face, rendering him unconscious. What happened to him afterwards is not clear to Mr. Caldwell, but he is under the impression that he was dragged out of the cab and further assaulted, after which the men got in the cab and compelled the driver to proceed to the depot. A friend of Mr. Caldwell passed along about this time and assisted him to a hotel. Warrants were sworn out for Winder and Hanna. Captain John Baker White, a friend of Mr. Caldwell, hearing of the outrage, at once took steps to secure the arrest of the parties who committed the assault. With the driver of the hack, a colored man named Dunbar, and some officers, they went to the K. and M. depot.

The rear car door was locked. Captain White hurriedly gave instructions to the Sheriff to make an investigation on the train and if the parties were aboard to place them under arrest on the charge of assault. Dunbar, the colored hack driver, was also placed on the train to assist in the identification. Their efforts were futile, however.

MAY LOSE AN EYE.

Representative Caldwell is resting well under the care of physicians. He was badly hurt and may lose an eye. It is announced that the friends of John H. Winder in the coal business here secured countermanding of the messages for the arrest of the parties, and that their private car went over the Ohio River bridge at Point Pleasant, W. Va., unmolested. The warrants were sworn out by Captain J. B. White. Winder represents the interests of J. P. Morgan in Ohio and West Virginia, and all the coal operators here pleaded to have the order of arrest rescinded. Winder is here frequently on business, but it was the first visit of Hanna and the others. It is stated that Caldwell's friends will offer a resolution in the House of Delegates inquiring into the reasons for the Kanawha county officials countermanding the order of service of the warrants.

HANNA AND WINDER SAY STORY IS FALSE

(By Associated Press.)
COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 14.—The private car bearing John Winder, general manager of the Kanawha and Hocking, and the Sunday Creek Coal Companies, Dan Hanna, son of Senator M. A. Hanna, reached Columbus this afternoon. W. Va., this afternoon. It was transferred to the Big Four and taken to Cleveland later. Mr. Hanna and his party stopped here an hour with John Winder and spent the time at his office in this city. Mr. Winder, when shown the story of the assault on Representative Caldwell at Charleston, W. Va., this morning, said the entire story was a falsehood and that none of his party was connected with it whatever. "We did not even see Caldwell," said Winder. He stated that he had stopped in Charleston over night and came to Columbus to-day.

W. J. Bryan Says Under No Consideration will He Accept the Nomination.

(By Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, February 14.—The Evening Telegram printed to-day an interview with William J. Bryan, in which Mr. Bryan said he would not be a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination next year. "I have said on many occasions that I am not and will not be again a candidate for renomination," said Mr. Bryan, "and you cannot make that statement too emphatic. Under no consideration would I again go into the field, and I say this now for the benefit of my friends in the East. I am a plain worker in the Democratic ranks and am content to remain as such." "That being the case," he was asked, "what, in your opinion, ought to be the real issues of the next campaign on the Democratic side?" "Events make issues," answered the former candidate, "but the trust question and the question of imperialism are just now necessary issues. The tariff question and the money question are also very necessary issues, and there are many others. But those I have mentioned are now actively before the country and before Congress."

As to probable candidates, Mr. Bryan said that he preferred not to discuss the subject. "What do you think of Judge Parker, of the Court of Appeals, from this State?" was asked.

"I have heard a great deal of favorable comment about Judge Parker," was the reply, "but when I ascertain what the people are aspirant for the nomination I will make it my business to investigate these men and the principles which they are supposed to represent. Then I will be prepared to discuss them." "I notice that I am credited with having suggested the name of Governor Garvin, of Rhode Island, as an available candidate. That is an erroneous impression. I read his annual message to the Legislature, and I found it to be a purely Democratic document. For that reason I suggested that it might be wise to consider men of his stamp among the possibilities. But it seems that the men who have the making of presidential candidates now-a-days don't want to find truly Democratic men to represent them."

MORO STRONGHOLD HAS BEEN SURRENDERED

MANILA, February 14.—Bayan, the strongest Moro stronghold in the Lano country of the Island of Mindanao, has submitted to the American force, commanded by Captain Pershing.

CORTELYOU TO BE NEW CABINET MEMBER

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, February 14.—President Roosevelt this afternoon signed the bill providing for a department of commerce, thus concluding its enactment into law. It is well understood that George B. Cortelyou, secretary to the President, will be appointed secretary of the new department. His appointment will be sent to the Senate by the President before Monday, and it is likely there will be no delay in its confirmation. The transfer of the existing bureau will not take place formally until the close of the present fiscal year, June 30th. Coincident with the qualification of Secretary Cortelyou as the secretary of the Department of Commerce and Labor, William Loeb, Jr., will enter upon the duties of secretary to the President. Mr. Loeb is at present first assistant secretary. B. F. Barnes, now assistant secretary, will take up the duties now performed by Mr. Loeb.

FOUND BABY BOY IN WILLOW BASKET

A Sturdy Youngster at the Almshouse All Ready to Be Adopted.

Just after nightfall last evening, Superintendent George B. Davis, of the City Almshouse, went to the front door to observe the weather indications, when a dark object just within the front fence caught his attention. Closer inspection disclosed the fact that it was a common split basket, evidently with something in it. Mr. Davis carried it within, investigated, and there, wrapped in a blanket was one of the chubbliest, sturdiest, prettiest baby boys, only a few hours old, that he had ever beheld, and Mr. Davis has seen many little ones in the course of his benevolent career. "I gave him to the matron," said Mr. Davis last night, "to be properly clothed. If any one wants a bouncing baby boy, pretty and thoroughly healthy, with little disposition to cry, now is their chance. There is absolutely no clue as to where the baby came from, or who are the parents."

ARMY STAFF BILL SIGNED BY PRESIDENT

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, February 14.—President Roosevelt late this afternoon signed the Army staff bill and it is now a law. One of the first acts following the approval of the bill was the promotion of Colonel William F. Randolph, chief of artillery, to the grade of brigadier-general in accordance with the provisions of that act. The other provisions of the act don't take effect until after the retirement of Lieutenant-General Miles, August 15th next.

Brother of Richmond Women Committed Suicide While Visiting Him.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
BALTIMORE, MD., Feb. 14.—To-day while Mrs. Elizabeth Sampson and Miss Jeanette Dick, both of Richmond, Va., were guests of their brother, John Dick, No. 140 McHenry Street, the latter committed suicide by shooting himself through the head. He was fifty-nine years of age and had been suffering from nervous prostration for several months. The family moved here a few years ago from Lonacongon, Md. One son of the deceased is David E. Dick, deputy surveyor of the port of Baltimore, and another is a city detective.

His Remains Reach Here This Morning and Will Lie in State at the College.

(By Associated Press.)

The funeral of Dr. J. L. M. Curry will take place from the chapel of Richmond College this afternoon at 3 o'clock. Bishop C. B. Galloway has telegraphed that he will be unable to get here in time for the service. He is in Mississippi, and a study of the railroad schedules shows that he would not reach the city by the closest connection until tonight or in the morning. Dr. Bittling, of New York, will be here, however, and he will be assisted by Dr. George Cooper, pastor of the First Baptist Church, of which Dr. Curry was a member, retaining his fellowship there no matter where his residence.

The remains will reach Richmond at 6:35 this morning, and will be met at the Southern Depot by Funeral Director L. A. Christian. The students of Richmond College, headed by President Southworth, of the College, Messrs. Thomas M. Rutherford, William S. Wortham, Coleman Wortham, R. L. Maury, T. M. Wortham, J. C. Williams, Jr., and Albert Wortham.

From the railway station the body will be taken directly to the College, where a voluntary guard of students, until the time of the funeral. DISTINGUISHED PALL-BEARERS. Mr. Thomas M. Rutherford, who has been director of the funeral arrangements here, has announced the pall-bearers. They are: Honorary—Chief Justice Melville W. Fuller, Senator Morgan, of Alabama; Senator Bacon, of Georgia; General Joseph Wheeler, Governor Parrot, Governor Montague, Dr. D. C. Gilman, Dr. Wallace Buttrick, E. C. Strobel, Dr. Meredith, T. C. Williams, Jr., Dr. Glenn Royall, Robert S. Boshier, Colonel Archer Anderson, John P. Branch, Joseph Bryan, Professor Charles H. Winston, Dr. Charles H. Fryland, President F. W. Boatwright and Edward S. Valentine. Active—William M. Turpin, J. Alston Cabell, William Ellyson, Charles V. Meredith, T. C. Williams, Jr., T. M. Wortham, Dr. R. H. Pitt, Wyndham R. Meredith, Professor W. A. Harris and Professor S. C. Mitchell.

CHAPEL HEAVILY DRAPED. The chapel of the College, where the body will rest during the day and the funeral occurs, has been richly draped in mourning. From the platform of this room Dr. Curry delivered several of the most addresses of his life. Whenever he came to the College the boys delighted to have him address them from that platform, as he always did when opportunity was afforded. The pall-bearers, honorary and active, are requested by President Boatwright to assemble in the library of the College at 2:30. A few minutes before 3 they will go in a body to the chapel. All regret exceedingly that Bishop Galloway cannot get here. He was a close personal friend of Dr. Curry's for many years. (Continued on Fifth Page.)

CAMPBELL COMPLETES HIS DEFENSE

Prosecutor to Resume on February 18th.

HE TELLS OF HIS FIGHTS IN AMHERST

Reason for Kicking Mr. Evans' Aged Father Years Ago.

HAS SHARP WORDS WITH PROSECUTING ATTORNEY

A Demand from the Accused Judge That He Receive the Treatment to Which a Gentleman is Entitled. Resents Remarks of Judge Loving—Details of the Day's Proceedings.

With closing scenes now spirited in action and fiery, now weird and strange, the second act in the Campbell investigation was brought to an end yesterday with the setting of the sun, and the curtain dropped between the public and that tending panorama of Amherst county history upon which so many have feasted their eyes during the few days just gone.

As was to be expected, the action moved toward a climax and finally culminated in the scenes which revolved around the defendant as he sat in the witness chair and gave an account of himself. While the day gradually wore on to a close another sands began to exhaust themselves, this imperturbable witness sat on and talked on, while hundreds stood around and hung upon his words. The chief actor in the events, he seemed yet to be perfectly at his ease. Now and again he grew characteristically emphatic and animated, and at one time he threw a dash of cold water in the face of one who pressed him in a manner he did not approve. Plied by the questions of the merciless cross-examiner, he dug into the very heart of his official life and turned it up to the gaze of the investigators. At one moment he gave a dramatic account of a most dramatic affair—an account smelling of fire and brimstone.

When, after nearly seven hours of ceaseless firing, the prosecutors withdrew from the field, Judge Campbell arose and the hearing came to an end. The defense had closed its case.

"I am done," said the Judge. "You have heard the prosecution; you have heard the defense. No, I have nothing to say."

Both sides have had their say. Upon Wednesday next, when the committee reassembles, the rebuttal will begin.

THE SESSION YESTERDAY.

But for a short hour's recess the hearing yesterday was continuous from 10 o'clock in the morning until 6 o'clock in the evening. Through all this long time Judge Campbell kept the stand and parried the thrusts of the cross-examiners, who pressed him without mercy. Here and there he stumbled and showed signs of weakening, but taken all in all, he was a remarkably good witness for himself.

All that he said was interesting—one thing was intensely so. Dramatically in keeping with a dramatic affair, he gave in detail a history of his personal difficulties in Amherst, all of which except one were connected with one family—that of Otto L. Evans, the present Commonwealth's Attorney in the county of which the witness is the judge. The old family feud, in which pistols and knives figured only too prominently, was laid bare before the committee.

To give a summary of Judge Campbell's testimony on cross-examination is impossible. Judge Loving and Mr. Strode went at him with hammers and rakes and hesitated not to pull him about in every conceivable way. The witness grew animated at times and had frequently to be called to order by the chairman of the committee. Then again he would become preternaturally calm, stick his lemon in his mouth and suck it nonchalantly while he told the gentlemen laboring over him to please repeat that question.

Once Judge Campbell got mad—distinctly mad. Mr. Strode, the young attorney for the prosecution, had taken him in hand and had declared that he would read to the witness a law which "even you" cannot fail to understand. "Now here, Mr. Strode," called out the witness as he wheeled in his seat and shot a steady cold glance full into the attorney's face, "let me tell you I am going to treat you as a gentleman, and you must not reflect upon me here or anywhere else. . . . Judge Loving has treated me as a gentleman, and you must do the same thing." "I beg your pardon, I disclaim any intention—" "I accept your apology. Now go on and don't do so any more. I apologize to the committee if I am wrong. I am going to protect myself as a gentleman." There the excitement calmed down and
